

FINDING INTERNSHIPS/PLACEMENTS /GRADUATE JOBS IN THE UK

USEFUL WEBSITES

Several of the below sites not only list jobs, they also have sections on how to apply, how to write a good UK style CV etc.

Step: <http://www.step.org.uk/graduates-students/>

Prospects: <https://www.prospects.ac.uk/>

Rate My Placement: <http://www.ratemylacement.co.uk/search?show=jobs&duration=1>

Target Jobs: <https://targetjobs.co.uk/internships> & <https://targetjobs.co.uk/> (for jobs)

Milk Round: <http://www.milkround.com/>

Intern jobs: <http://www.internjobs.com/>

ISPO (International Student Placement Office, East Midlands Chamber of Commerce): matches international students with UK (mainly local) companies wishing to start exporting etc. (NB I believe most are unpaid): <http://www.ispo.co.uk/students/>

Investment 2020 (investment management): <https://www.investment2020.org.uk/>

OTHER USEFUL RESOURCES

Prospects (not only has jobs, it also has lots of advice on CVs and job applications etc): <http://www.prospects.ac.uk/>

The Guardian (newspaper) Careers: <http://jobs.theguardian.com/careers/>

The Guardian "Careers Uncovered" e-book

<http://image.mail.guardianjobs.com/lib/fe971570706d047f72/m/9/Guardian+Careers+Uncovered+second+edition+ebook+2014.pdf>

The Independent (newspaper): <http://www.independent.co.uk/student/career-planning/>

SOCIAL MEDIA

It is worth having an English LinkedIn account and using it for networking to help to find opportunities. Here is an example of an article on how to use LinkedIn for job searching (last updated 4/18): <https://www.thebalance.com/how-to-use-linkedin-to-job-search-2062600>

In the UK, Twitter is used extensively by companies to promote their job opportunities (Facebook too). If you follow the NTU Nottingham Business School's Twitter account, you can then also access the Twitter Lists.

- NBS Employability Twitter: @NTUYouFirstNBS
- NTU Employability Twitter: @NTUYouFirst

Most of the organisations mentioned above also have active helpful Twitter accounts. Target Jobs have a central account, plus separate accounts for different types of jobs (@TJobsFinance and @TJobsMarketing).