

Forth Global is an internationally-oriented security risk management company and total solution provider in terms of travel safety and security. We believe that security should enable organizations to do what they do best in complex environments and frontier/emerging markets. As an innovative and fast-growing company, we use our knowledge of business and organizational processes to make robust security solutions.

The Risk Advisory team is specialized in creating organizational and individual resilience through giving holistic security risk management advice to companies, governments and aid agencies. The team is composed of a mixture of experienced and starting security professionals. We put high value on international security so that their employees are optimally prepared to work safely and efficiently abroad.

To reinforce our Risk Advisory work, we are looking for an:
